

Study on the storage system in the Japanese workplace

Elokla, Nermin

<https://doi.org/10.15017/458904>

出版情報 : Kyushu University, 2004, 博士 (芸術工学) , 課程博士
バージョン :
権利関係 :

Table of Contents

Part 1 Introduction

Research Background.....	1
Research Plan.....	6
References.....	7

Part 2 Examine the Storage System Items in the Workplace

1. Introduction	9
1.1 Purpose	9
1.2 Methods	9
2. Results and discussions.....	10
2.1 Japanese paper size.....	11
2.2 File tools' evaluation	12
2.2.1 Features of a binder	13
2.2.2 Features of a folder	13
2.2.3 Features of a File box	13
3. Conclusion	17
4. Summary	18
References.....	19

Part 3 Study on the Storage System Features

3-1 Survey of the Storage Products in the Market

1. Introduction	20
1.1 Purpose.....	20
1.2 Methods.....	20
2. Results and discussions.....	21
2.1 Defining the storage capacity.....	21
2.2 Personal storage products within the market.....	21
2.2.1 The modification of the pedestal design from 1950s ~today.....	27
2.2.2 Driving force to modify a pedestal.....	28
2.3 Communal storage products within the market.....	31
2.3.1 The modification of the file cabinet design from 1950s ~today.....	31
2.3.2 Driving force to modify the file cabinet.....	35
3. Conclusion	40
4. Summary.....	42
References.....	43

3-2 Propriety of the Mobile Storage Unit for the Work Performance

1. Introduction	45
1.1 Purpose	45
1.2 Methods	45
2. Evaluation of the current workplace	46
2.1 Features of the accounting division workplace	48
2.2 Features of the design division workplace	50
3. Results and discussions	53
4. Conclusion	58
5. Summary	59
References	60

Part 4 Identify the Problems of the Storage Systems in the Workplace

4-1 Personal Storage System Problems

1. Introduction	62
1.1 Purpose	62
1.2 Methods	62
2. Research findings	63
2.1 Storage unit's features in the workplace	63
2.2 Storage unit capacity inside the workplace	64
2.3 File classification and its home	65
3. Results of survey	66
4. Discussions	68
4.1 Capacity of the personal storage space is inefficient	69
4.2 File cabinets' locations are not convenient for the workers	72
4.3 Personal style	72
4.4 Workers have not enough time to organize the documents regularly	74
4.5 Filing management is not adequate	74
4.6 Files are not organized and displayed well	77
5. Recommended steps for reorganizing the space of the workstation	79
6. Recommended steps' tests	84
6.1 Purpose of experiment	84
6.2 Methods of experiment	84
6.3 Results of experiment	85
6.3.1 Effect of the workstation space organization on the person's comfort	86
a. Results of desktop space	88
b. Results of leg space	88
6.3.2 Effect of displaying the files clearly on the time of file accessibility	89
a. Filing system test	89

b.	Filing arrangement test	90
6.3.3	Effect of the file's location within the workstation on the time of file accessibility and the person's comfort	92
7.	Conclusion	94
8.	Summary	95
	References	97

4-2 Communal Storage System Problems

1.	Introduction	98
1.1	Purpose	98
1.2	Methods	98
2.	Results and discussions	99
2.1	File organization within the storage unit shelves	100
2.1.1	Revamping the filing organization within the storage unit	101
a.	Filing System application	101
b.	Filing arrangement	103
c.	Select the file tools	104
d.	Use a divider	104
e.	Create a filing index	104
f.	Select the storage unit type	104
2.1.2	Filing distribution in the storage unit	105
a.	Purpose of experiment.....	106
b.	Methods of experiment	106
c.	Results and discussions of experiment	108
2.2	File cabinets' organization within the workplace	113
2.2.1	File reservation in the workplace	114
2.2.2	File cabinet's locations in three cases of the visited workplaces	115
2.2.3	Requirements for selecting the location of the communal files	119
2.3	Storage unit capacity	127
3.	Conclusion	129
4.	Summary	131
	References	133

Part 5 Conclusion

1.	Personal storage system problems	135
2.	Communal storage system problems	136
3.	The recommended tips for getting high performance storage system	137
4.	Examples to apply the recommended tips	146

Acknowledgements.....	148
Appendix A	149
Appendix B.....	150
Appendix C.....	153
Appendix D.....	161